LABOUR SURVIVES IN VOTING ON BUDGET

Government wins by five votes on two issues

A NARROW ESCAPE

London, April 26.

Britain's two months' old Labour Government today beat off by only five votes two Conservative challenges threatening its downfall and a new General Election.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Clement Attlee's precarious administration rejected in the House of Commons Conservative motions against Sir Stafford Cripps' £4,000,000,000 Budget.

The Liberals voted with the Conservatives.

Labour Party wins Dumbarton election

Dumbarton, April 26.

The Labour Party increased its overall majority in the House of Commons to eight on Wednesday by squeezing through in a Scottish bye-election.

Its candidate in the Dumbartonshire West Division bye-election, Mr. Tom Steele, defeated Conservative Commander Robert Allan, by 20,376 to 20,074.

The election was called to fill a vacancy created by the death of Mr. Adam McKinley, Labour, who died two weeks after winning in the February 23 general election.

Mr. McKinley then got 20,393 votes to Allan's 19,785 and 1,198 for the Communist candidate, Mr. F. Hart. It was a straight fight this time between Conservative and Labour.

A third bye-election will be fought out in the Brighstone and Spensborough division of Yorkshire on May 4.

Mr. Steele's victory now gives the Labourites 314 in Commons against 306 held by the combined Conservative-Liberal forces.

Three members elected on February 23 have not, for various reasons, taken the oath of office.—Associated Press.

French claim successes in Indo-China

Saigon, April 26. French forces launched a series of "fully successful" operations in reply to numerous and violent Vietminh guerrilla attacks in Tonkin, Annam and Cochinchina, French military communiques stated today.

Six mixed French-Vietnam battalions surrounded three Vietminh battalions in Tonkin, one communist said. Another communist said that French Union troops won a victory in the Thanhbinh region, 60 miles South West of Hanoi, in the rich Tonkin delta, where a rebel force was destroyed.

Thirty-four Vietminh soldiers were killed and 500 captured, the communiques claimed.

The French High Command has not yet given details of operations near the Tonkin-Yunnan border, but it was learned from informed sources that French troops were continuing successful mopping up operations.

Meanwhile, a New China News Agency report from Peking, quoting the Vietminh radio, received in London, said that Vietminh forces had inflicted casualties totalling 1,500 on French and auxiliary forces and had captured another 300 in a recent offensive in the Dinhtrien sector in central Vietnam.—Reuter.

New revolt in East Indonesia

Jakarta, April 26.

A new revolt against the Central Indonesian Government was reported today to have broken out in the State of East Indonesia.

Reliable neutral sources said separatists on the island of Ambon, traditional capital of the Moluccan islands, had proclaimed an independent state of the South Moluccas.

The revolt was the fourth against the young central Indonesian Government and the second on Ambon. Indonesian soldiers on the island mutinied in March but the Jakarta Government later announced the revolt had been put down.

The neutral sources said the separatists were led by Dr. Soumokil, until recently Attorney General of the State of East Indonesia, of which Ambon was a part.

Soumokil is reported, left Makassar, the East Indonesia capital, for Ambon early in April, a few days before the collapse of a short-lived revolt there against the central government by Indonesian soldiers led by Captain Andi Abdul Aziz, a former officer in the Dutch Army.

Other leaders

Other leaders of the new rebel state were reported to be Manahutu, acting head of the previous government administration on the island, and Walirai, member of the South Moluccas Council.

The Ambonese, who include a large proportion of Christians in contrast to the Moslem Indonesians of the other islands, have elements in Indonesia. In past years they have been used extensively by the Dutch Army as troops because of their loyalty and their fierce fighting spirit.

The latest revolt, like the others which preceded it, presumably stemmed from animosity by the central government for separatist tendencies. Ambon, a strategic port, is situated on the island of Sumatra, and is a key to the Sunda Strait.

It is a small island, but it is a key to the Sunda Strait.

Australian Labour Party opposes use of troops in Malaya

Canberra, April 26.

The Australian Federal Labour Party today issued a manifesto declaring its "rigid opposition to the use of Australian forces in the present civil disturbances in Malaya."

It charged the Australian Defence Minister, Mr. E. J. Harrison, who is now Resident Minister in London, with indiscretion in recent statements on Malaya.

The manifesto also accused the Australian Government of lack of frankness, since the recent statement made by Mr. Harrison suggesting the use of Australian Commandos had not been repudiated or qualified. It could be assumed to express the Government's views.

The manifesto said that there had been no efforts made by the Prime Minister, Mr. R. G. Menzies, or by Mr. Harrison to consider the desirability of consultation with the Governments of India and Pakistan or any other well-disposed Asiatic Government whose views, therefore, may be assumed to be of little concern to the Australian Government.

"The Labour Party warns the Australian public against military action having no better basis than the loose and imprudent assertions of the Defence Minister," it declared.

It claimed that no attempt had been made to analyse the attitudes of the Indian, Chinese or Malay populations in Malaya and that no real information has been given on the activities of British, Dutch or locally recruited troops.

"At this stage, when Britain, the United States, Holland, France, are withdrawing or have withdrawn from Asiatic territory or are conferring wide measures of self-government it would be dangerously foolish for Australia to assume the task of policing any Asiatic colonial possession," the manifesto declared.

Australia had never been consulted on the subject of any constitutional settlement in Malaya or any economic or social policy for that territory, it said.

Communist ban

Meanwhile, the Minister of the Interior, Mr. Philip McBride, today announced that arrangements had been made to push extra police to Canberra should the Communists carry out their threat and march on the city in protest against the introduction of a bill to ban the Communist Party.

A chorus of "hear, hear" greeted the Prime Minister, Mr. Robert Menzies' announcement in the House of Representatives today that he would introduce the bill to outlaw the Communists.

The bill provides "for the dissolution of the Australian Communist Party and other Communist organisations, to disqualify Communists from holding certain offices and for other purposes connected therewith," but the Government has placed the greatest secrecy on its details.—Reuter.

U.S. ship collides with Chinese vessel near T'sin

San Francisco, April 26.

The Communist news agency charged today that more than 70 Chinese crew members lost their lives as a result of negligence of the American ship, California Bear, which collided with a Chinese vessel near Tientsin on April 20.

The agency report, broadcast by Peking Radio, said the California Bear collided with the 1,400-ton Chinese vessel, Hsiao Hsiao, during a foggy night in the Bohai Gulf, east of Tientsin.

The California Bear is reported to have been carrying 1,000 tons of cargo, including 100 tons of oil, and 100 crew members.

The Hsiao Hsiao was reported to have been carrying 1,000 tons of cargo, including 100 tons of oil, and 100 crew members.

SHANGHAI FOREIGNERS LEAVING TIENTSIN IN SS. GENERAL GORDON

More than 800 foreign nationals in Shanghai will leave China via Tientsin on April 29, the "China Mail" learned reliably yesterday.

The American President Lines' ship, ss. General Gordon, was due to leave Yokohama yesterday for Tientsin to carry out the evacuation, which includes several hundred British subjects and American citizens.

An official of the American President Lines said yesterday that he could not confirm the arrangements.

However, from other reliable sources, it is learned that the General Gordon is due to arrive at Taku Bar, entry point to Tientsin, on April 28; it is due to leave on April 29 presumably for Hong Kong.

The U.S. Consulate General in Hong Kong confirmed that the General Gordon is leaving Taku Bar on April 29 with between 800 and 1,000 foreign evacuees, says Associated Press.

(The General Gordon left Okinawa on Tuesday and is expected to arrive at Taku Bar on April 28. She is expected to arrive at Hong Kong on May 2 and sail for the United States on May 3 via Manila, Yokohama, Honolulu and San Francisco.)

Communist authorities are reported to be facilitating the large-scale evacuation by granting exit visas to any of the more than 1,600 nationals who formerly booked passage on the General Gordon before the ship's Shanghai evacuation was cancelled on March 20.

More than 40 evacuees a day were reported to have been entering Tientsin during the past two weeks.

Several special trains from Shanghai to Tientsin have been arranged by the Shanghai authorities to enable all who wish to leave China to do so.

The officials, as a special concession, are reported to be clearing passengers' luggage and furniture through the Customs while en route to Tientsin and after arrival in the North China port.

Success virtually assured. Though the General Gordon's last attempted evacuation was suddenly cancelled, it is believed that this evacuation, mainly because it will take place from Taku Bar, is almost certain to be completed successfully.

The evacuees are due to leave Tientsin by rail for Taku Bar, and from there will board lighters and tenders for the liner. A large party of American diplomatic and consular personnel are among the passengers, it was reported.

Evacuees in Tientsin are reported to be crowded in Tientsin hotels, and sleeping in makeshift quarters in the railway stations; while some are staying with European residents in Tientsin.

Payment of rail fare from Shanghai to Tientsin is only the equivalent of US$20—not including the vast amount of luggage and personal effects which the evacuees are reported to be bringing out of China.

North China residents. Not only will the passengers include Shanghai residents, but also a score of people from Tientsin and more than 50 European residents of Peking, who are reported to have bought tickets on the liner.

This evacuation, if it takes place on schedule, will cut the largest hole in the foreign population in China since the General Gordon evacuated some 2,000 foreigners late in 1949.

Three months ago, the Peking Government complained that though the State Department had recalled all their representatives in China, they had actually evacuated but few of them.

Previous plans a failure. The State Department answered this by setting up the March evacuation plans for the General Gordon. This plan was cancelled.

Wing Sang purser held in Taiwan

Taipei, April 26.

A British ship officer is under arrest in Taiwan in connection with the alleged smuggling of gold from this island to Hong Kong.

He is Mr. Victor Collison, purser of the British steamer Wing Sang, who was removed from the ship before she sailed for Hong Kong from Keelung last week-end.

Mr. Collison is being held incommunicado.

His wife, a Russian by birth, lives in Hong Kong.

Mr. Collison was at one time an inspector in the pro-war International Settlement police at Shanghai.—Associated Press.

Chased across the border

The excuse that they were chased by the Communists across the border and that, knowing it was unlawful to carry arms in Hong Kong they had dumped their weapons into the sea, did not help three former Nationalist soldiers in their plea before Mr. F. X. d'Almada at Kowloon yesterday.

The soldiers, Kong Chi-tol, Chan Man and Tang Wah, charged with the unlawful possession of a Japanese rifle, a hand-grenade and 19 rounds of ammunition, were sentenced to two years each.

On an additional charge of breach of a deportation order, Tang Wah received another nine months, his sentences to run consecutively.

Inspector James Hadden, prosecuting, said that on March 30 defendants were seen coming ashore from a sampson off Sha Kiu Village, Deep Bay. Later on, after paying a visit to the village, defendants returned to the boat and were observed taking the arms from the boat and dumping them overboard about 30 yards from shore.

A police party under Detective Yip Fat went to the spot and recovered the arms. Later, on information received, the police arrested defendants in Mong Ching Village.

Inspector Hadden, in asking that a serious view be taken, said that all defendants had been in Hong Kong after the fall of the Nationalists, and the fact that they had been here before they were chased by the Communists. They dumped their arms in a place where they could be recovered at their convenience.

USS Floyd B. Parks and USS Horace A. Bass will arrive here on May 12.

Vietnamese demand for independence

A group of Vietnam intellectuals issued a declaration in Saigon recently demanding a change in France's policy towards Vietnam by giving Vietnam a status of independence at least similar to the present status of India and Pakistan.

The declaration, published in Saigon newspapers which arrived here yesterday, also demanded a guarantee from the United Nations Organisation of the independence of Vietnam.

It added that alliances between an independent Vietnam and other States willing to establish friendly relations with Vietnam should not conflict with the sovereign rights of the country.

Other points in the declaration stated that relations between an independent Vietnam and France should be on equal terms.

Agreements should be made between an independent Vietnam and France for the eventual withdrawal of the French forces but in the meantime French Forces should remain at their posts.

A progressive provincial government should be set up in an independent Vietnam based on respect of individual rights and social justice.

Preparations should be made for the return from exile of resistance troops and leaders to begin the reconstruction of the nation.

The declaration was signed by Luu Van Lang, engineer; Tran Quang Nghiem, merchant; Thui Van Lan, engineer; Nguyen Thi Song, engineering chemist; Tran Quang De, surgeon; Nguyen Van Vi, banker; Truong Quang Chieu, professor; Dinh Quang Chieu, electrical engineer; Chau Tam, engineer; Tian Van Do, medical doctor; Nguyen Van Kieu, dentist; Liu Quang Khing, merchant; and 15 others.

ROCKET TESTS IN PACIFIC

Port Hueneme, California, April 25.

Bound for some secret equatorial point in the mid-Pacific, the seaplane tender Norton Sound, converted into a floating proving ground, leaves tomorrow for the launching next month of a 50-foot rocket in the interest of cosmic ray research.

Navy scientists, headed by Dr. E. Newell of Silver Spring, Maryland, said the Viking rocket may reach the highest altitude yet attained by any missile launched in equatorial areas. It is propelled by a liquid oxygen and alcohol motor.

Various instruments are carried in the rocket's nose to record research data, which is relayed to the Norton Sound by automatic radio transmitters for study.

The destroyer Osborn will accompany the Norton Sound.

Advice to students planning to study in England

Students planning to study in England should first contact the Hong Kong Director of Education. They should not go on their own. There is very little hope of a local student obtaining a place in a British University unless he is recommended to the Colonial Office by the Selection Committee set up in Hong Kong, said the Director of Education in an official statement yesterday.

The statement added that it has recently been pointed out by the Director of Colonial Scholarships in London that students from Hong Kong are arriving in England without any official recommendation and even without having matriculated. They have, naturally, failed to gain entrance to a University.

"It must be clearly understood," said the statement, that the Universities in Britain cannot accommodate anything approaching the number of British students seeking admission. Edinburgh University, for instance, had 800 applicants for 40 places in the Medical Faculty, and similar results came from all Universities.

"This desire for University education continues to increase," Dr. Mount Jones and Mr. Walter Adams of the Inter-University Council for Higher Education in the Colonies, who were recently here on an official visit, confirmed the seriousness of the situation and were of the opinion that there was little likelihood of any change in the near future.

"Nevertheless, all British Universities are generously prepared to admit a number of Colonial students provided they are sponsored by the Colonial Office on the recommendation of their local Selection Committee. This Committee, which is under the Chairmanship of the Director of Education, consists of two Deans of the Faculty of the University; an official member of the Legislative Council; a representative from each of the Chamber of Commerce; the Employers Federation; the British Council; the Labour Office and the Education Department.

Two categories

"The Committee deals with two categories of students those who apply for scholarships under the Colonial Development and Welfare Act and also those who are prepared to pay all expenses themselves and wish to go to Britain as private students."

"The students whom this Committee have recommended in the past four years have acquitted themselves so well in England that out of 21 students recommended at the meeting in November, 17 can be placed in Universities, of whom six have been awarded scholarships. This is a high figure for any Colony."

"Wherever a student comes from a Colony which has its own University it is very rarely that an undergraduate is recommended. In the crowded state of Universities in Britain it is considered reasonable that a candidate should first take a degree at the University of Hong Kong and thereafter proceed to read for another degree in England or take up post-graduate work."

"The Committee are convinced that the students gain much more from overseas Universities by going to them at a more mature age and after they had proved in the University of Hong Kong their capacity to make the fullest use of wider opportunities for higher studies."

Looked after in England

"Students who desire to go to Universities abroad should remember that the machinery exists in the Colony, not only for assisting them to gain entry to the University of their choice but also for ensuring that they are met on arrival in England, that their living accommodation is satisfactory and that they have someone to whom they can go for assistance and advice when in Britain."

"Miss Scott Macarlett, who was in Hong Kong as Secretary of the Social Welfare Council, is now the Director of Colonial Scholarships representative for Hong Kong students and is always available for advice and assistance, and in obtaining rapid communication with Hong Kong in case of urgent need. She can also, through the Colonial Office arrange for the booking of return passages."

"If a student goes on his own without making use of the existing facilities he will not be met when he arrives in England, he will have to search for rooms (a most difficult task for a foreign student), he will have no one to give him advice or assistance in his application for admission to any University, he will have to find his own way through the maze of the British University system."

"The Committee appears in the Press on the date on which applications are to be made to the Selection Committee. Usually the Selection Committee meets in November, and takes up the cases of those who have applied for admission to any University. It is the duty of the Selection Committee to ensure that the students who are recommended are of a high standard of academic achievement."

KMT report of trouble with S'hai Russians

Taipei, April 26.

The official Nationalist Central News Agency reports several cases of trouble in Shanghai involving Soviet Russians.

Its source is an unidentified arrival on Chusan Island from Shanghai.

This is the story ascribed to the man—quoted for what it is worth:

A few days ago two Chinese women factory workers were dragged into a house occupied by Russian advisers and raped.

Fellow workers reported the incident to a police station where they were told:

"Mao Tse-tung has sold the country to Soviet Russia. What are two factory workers compared with our country?"

On another occasion (the agency's source continued) the wife of a Chinese Communist officer was raped by a Soviet officer.

A fight led by the woman's husband developed, in which 40 Communists were killed or wounded and eight Russians killed.

Communist authorities banned publication of the story.—Associated Press.

BRITONS NAMED IN SPY TRIAL

Bucharest, April 25.

Five members of the British Legation and six members of the American Legation here were named today as having been spying and other offences in the indictment against five Rumanians on trial at a Military Court in Bucharest.

The Rumanians are charged with espionage and black market currency deals on behalf of their Anglo-American masters.

The indictment also alleged that the accused had aided foreigners to leave Rumania secretly, and also that they prepared material for psychological warfare by the broadcasts on the Voice of America and the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Four of the defendants at the trial were former employees of the recently closed British and United States Information Offices here. They included Marie Eugenia Alner, former Princess and daughter of the late King William of Albania, and two other women.

The fifth was a newspaper owner, Liviu Popescu, described as the father-in-law of Frederick Deaker, one-time assistant to Mr. Winston Churchill and Rumanian correspondent of the "New York Times."

Two American correspondents, Leonard Kirschner, of the Associated Press, and Marcel Epohne, of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, were arrested today in connection with the trial.

One of the Rumanians accused, Anny Samuel, said in a statement before the court that the two journalists were the informants of Mr. John Bennett, former Chief of the British Information Office in Rumania.—Reuters.

HK ART CLUB EXHIBITION

The monthly exhibition of the Hong Kong Art Club was displayed yesterday at the St. John's Cathedral Hall.

Viktor, arrived in a steady stream all day.

About 60 drawings were on view, in both oil and water-colours.

There were comparatively few portraits in the collection, but those exhibited were rich in significance and force. The landscapes of scenic resorts, the religious, domestic and some remarkable impression of busy Aberdeen were all original and interesting.

Defendant freed as Crown drops case at Sessions

CAT appeal to be heard today

The appeal against the decision of the Hong Kong Supreme Court, which dismissed the application for a receiver by Civil Air Transport, Incorporated, in respect of the China National Aviation Corporation and the Central Air Transport Corporation, will be heard at 10 a.m. today.

Sir Leslie Gibson, then Chief Justice, in dismissing the application, had ruled that the doctrine of sovereign immunity operated on the airlines which he held belonged to the government of China, and also that the plaintiffs had not made out a strong case.

It is learned that the Full Court of Appeal tomorrow will be composed of all three judges of the Supreme Court.

Court Brevities

Mak Sang, aged 26, was sentenced to four months hard labour by Mr. J. Reynolds at Central yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a pen.

Defendant, a refugee at the Tung Wah Refugee Camp, stole a pen from a fellow refugee while they were lining up for rice on Tuesday.

For handing $3 to a prisoner at Aberdeen on Tuesday, Lo Choe, aged 39, a labourer, was given the option of a fine of $20 or six days imprisonment by Mr. J. Reynolds at Central yesterday.

On Tuesday, defendant was watching prisoners at work at Aberdeen. A prisoner asked defendant for money. Defendant waited for some time and at the first opportunity handed $3 to a prisoner. He was seen by an Indian warden and arrested.

Two women, Ho Chuen and Chow Chui, who were each fined $1,000 for importing silver coins, had their fines reduced to $250 when their cases were reviewed by Mr. F. X. d'Almada at Kowloon yesterday.

Mr. Peter Sin, who applied for a review of sentence last week on behalf of the women, made submission whether silver coins could be regarded as silver bullion under the Ordinance. He said that the silver coins, 1,397 in all, represented the life savings of his clients.

Mr. d'Almada held that the coins could be regarded as silver but that in view of his submission that they represented the life savings of the defendants, he would reduce the fines.

Wall Mohamed, aged 50, eye specialist, of 32 Lalchik Road, ground floor, was charged before Mr. d'Almada at Kowloon yesterday with unlawfully wounding Lau Kwok-man.

Sub-inspector T. P. Ross, in his application for a three-day remand, said that the police opposed bail for defendant and that complainant, who is now in hospital, was expected to undergo an operation either last night or today.

A three-day remand was granted.

Lam Ah-chap, aged 32, charged with possession of three forged $5 Hong Kong banknotes and with uttering one of them, was committed to stand trial at the next Criminal Sessions by Mr. James Wicks at Kowloon yesterday.

Defendant was alleged to have attempted to pass one of the notes to a cigarette hawk, who recognised him as the man who had on two previous occasions given her two forged $10 notes on purchases. Defendant was arrested on April 1 in Tung Tau Village.

Lam Yuen, student, and Private Li Ming of the RASC, Whitfield Barracks, respectively charged with allowing a private car out for hire and aiding and abetting in the offence, were fined $150 each by Mr. James Wicks at Kowloon yesterday.

When the car was intercepted in Tai Po Road on Tuesday, passengers were found in it and second defendant was alleged to have collected fares from the passengers.

A representative for the Wah Sun Printing Press, 140 Portland Street, summoned for operating an unregistered factory, was fined $50 by Mr. Wicks at Kowloon yesterday. The Lulbon Aluminium and Hardware Factory, 240 Wan, on a "night" summons was fined $25.

In the latter case, according to Mr. V. C. Bond, the owners erected a new building to house their factory, but upon completion, it was requisitioned by the military authorities. A licence was not issued to them because they did not present a plan to meet requirements.

An unemployed man charged with possession of forged banknotes walked out of the dock a free man in the middle of his trial at the Criminal Sessions yesterday by an order of the Court.

This unexpected situation arose out of police investigations into the activities of a certain person the accused had mentioned in evidence the day before, as a result of which the Crown yesterday decided to drop the case.

"You will take this as an example of the fairness of the system of justice as administered here," Mr. Justice Gould, Senior Puisne Judge, told the prisoner, Nip Shiu-kwong, as he ordered his release.

The jury of six men and one woman trying Nip was accordingly discharged.

Nip, a Roman Catholic, was not legally represented. He was accused of having in his possession 10 $10 Chartered Bank notes, 30 $5 Hong Kong Bank notes, and one $100 Hong Kong Bank note, all of which were forged.

Mr. A. Lonsdale, Crown Counsel, was for the prosecution assisted by Detective Sub-inspector W. J. Wall.

The jury was told by the prosecution the day before that the accused was arrested on January 27, on information.

Nip, against whom an additional charge of uttering a forged document had been preferred, was alleged to have been caught in the act of passing a forged $5 and $10 note while buying a pair of trousers from a shop.

On being searched, it was said, some of the forged notes were found on him. It was further stated that another portion of the money was discovered in his house.

Accused's denial

In the witness stand, the accused had denied any knowledge of the nature of the notes he was carrying. He maintained that one Wong Fat, an acquaintance of his, was the one who passed him the money.

After intensive cross-examination, the trial was adjourned until yesterday morning.

Mr. Lonsdale informed the Court that he was entering a "nolle prosequi." His reasons for this were that the previous day he had caused investigations to be made regarding the man Wong Fat.

Up to yesterday, he had no knowledge where this man could be found. As a result of what the accused had disclosed under cross-examination, in which he revealed the whereabouts of Wong Fat, the police found him. As a result of investigations into this man, Wong Fat, I am satisfied the probabilities are that the information given to the police by the informant is incorrect in many particulars," Mr. Lonsdale stated, adding that he did not feel he could pursue the case further.

Police not to blame

Crown Counsel went on to say that in his own mind, after the investigations mentioned, there was no complicity on the part of the police leading to the misinformation concerned.

The police, he concluded, are at present taking the necessary action against Wong Fat.

Mr. Gould then turned to the jury and told them this was an unusual situation in which the Crown had decided to enter a case of "nolle prosequi" and did not wish the case to go any further.

Mr. Gould discharged the jury after acquainting them with the reasons in question. He then addressed the prisoner, saying: "The Crown has decided that it is not right that it should proceed further against you in this case. This attitude arises as a result of an investigation undertaken into the man Wong Fat whom you mentioned in your evidence."

"The Attorney-General, being satisfied that it is not in the interest of justice that the trial should go on, has entered a 'nolle prosequi' in this case."

Two charged with armed robbery

Two Chinese were committed to stand trial at the next Sessions by Mr. J. Reynolds at Central yesterday on a charge of armed robbery.

Lau Chi, aged 25, and Wu Kwong-hoi, aged 29, were charged with committing an armed robbery at 42 d'Aguilar Street, first floor, on the night of April 2.

Detective Sub-inspector W. Watson for the prosecution said that at 8 p.m. on April 12 four Chinese men entered the first floor of 42 d'Aguilar Street.

The men, who were armed with two revolvers and a hand grenade, were strangers to the occupants.

The robbers bound and gagged the occupants and relieved them of their money and jewellery. They ransacked the premises and in doing so left fingerprints.

The robbers stayed on the premises until 9.30 p.m. When they left, the occupants informed the police, who found fingerprints on various objects, including a very good one on a bottle.

The following day the police, acting on information received, went to the entrance of 330 Queen's Road Central.

After keeping watch for some time, the second defendant came along. He was searched and some of the stolen property was found on him.

On April 4 the first accused was arrested at the same place.

Both the accused were identified by the victims of the robbery. The fingerprints of the first accused were found on a bottle taken from the scene of the crime by the police on the night of the robbery.

The gang stole money and jewellery to the amount of $4,982, of which $2,153.20 had been recovered by the police.

Tenancy Tribunal clerk charged

Two further charges of corruption were preferred against Lai Kai-hong, alias Franky Lai, clerk of the Tenancy Tribunal, before Mr. James Wicks at Kowloon yesterday.

The 29-year-old clerk was charged last week with corruptly receiving $400 from Sze To Yuk-ku as a reward or inducement to arrange the eviction of Sze To's sub-tenants.

The additional charges alleged that he on March 27 received $200 from Sze To Yuk-ku as a reward for forwarding an application for the eviction of the principal tenant of 422 Reclamation Street, ground floor; that he on March 31 at defendant's address, 24 Flower Market Street, third floor, received $400 from Wong Ting-cheung, on behalf of her aunt, Sze To Yuk-ku, as a reward or inducement to arrange for the eviction of the sub-tenants of 24 Flower Market Street.

Defendant was remanded one week.

Robber suspect committed

Tse Pui, unemployed, charged with armed robbery and possession of arms and ammunition, was committed to stand trial at the next Criminal Sessions by Mr. F. X. d'Almada at Kowloon yesterday.

Defendant, with others not in custody, was alleged to have taken part in the robbery of 238 Shanghai Street on January 24 at the same time when another robbery of a goldsmith shop just across the street took place.

During the robbery defendant was wounded by gunshot and taken into custody.

At last week's hearing the owner of the shop, Leung King-ping, testified that 37 gold chains, seven gold bangles, 12 gold rings, eight gold bracelets and one gold cash were missing after the robbery.

Detective Sub-inspector S. H. Dowman is in charge of the prosecution's case.

EVICTED ORDERED

The Tenancy Tribunal has ordered the eviction of the occupants of 38 Wyndham Street on the application of P. K. Pavri and F. P. Vasunia, who acted on the latter's own behalf as well as the executor of the will of one E. R. Mogra, deceased.

Mr. P. C. Woo, the Tribunal President who heard the case, in granting the application, found that the opponent, E. R. Baldawalla, merchant, had parted with possession of the premises to his brother, Hosang.

Mr. M. A. da Silva represented the applicants. The opponent was represented by Mr. V. J. L. D'Alton.

Hong Kong Mines may have to close down, chairman declares

At the annual meeting of Hong Kong Mines Limited yesterday, Mr. H. J. Armstrong, chairman, said the Company might have to close down in a matter of months.

He said the Company's slender cash resources were being rapidly diminished, efforts to raise fresh capital to resuscitate the mines had been unsuccessful, and the Hong Kong Government was considering re-entry.

Mr. Armstrong said: "The Directors have called this Annual Meeting earlier than usual as they felt you should be fully advised of the position which has developed following the unsuccessful efforts to date of your Board to resuscitate our mining property on the Border."

"Fresh capital is urgently needed to replace all the essential mining machinery which was destroyed or shipped out of the Colony by the Japanese after they had carried out a period of working the Mine during the Occupation. Our claim for reparations amounting to some $2,500,000 has, of course, produced nothing in the meantime."

"Fresh capital is urgently needed but we have not been able to find it locally, and Mr. L. R. Nielson, who has represented the major investment in the Company since its incorporation 14 years ago, was unsuccessful abroad in his efforts along the same lines, political considerations also militating against us."

Government may act

"In addition, the Hong Kong Government is considering acting upon its rights of re-entry into the Mine, so that the fullest advantage may be taken of Hong Kong's potential output of lead, because of the continuing world shortage of that mineral and in view of the fact that our mine has remained inactive since the War."

"The Company's appeal for a contribution from the Colonial Development Fund was unsuccessful—the latest official advice dated December 28, 1949 is to the effect that Government does not propose to effect re-entry for the time being."

"In the circumstances, therefore, with our slender cash resources being rapidly diminished, in spite of our overheads being at an absolute minimum, it may only be a matter of months before this Company comes to an end."

The report and accounts were then adopted by the meeting. Mr. H. J. Armstrong and Mr. George T. Scholey were re-elected to the Board, and Lowe, Bingham and Matthews re-appointed auditors.

Peking relief conference

The China People's Relief Representative Conference opened in Peking on Tuesday, according to the vernacular "Wen Wei Po" yesterday.

The report said that delegates who attended the meeting included representatives of Government relief organizations, private relief bodies, overseas Chinese organizations, and the Liberated Areas Relief Headquarters. Some 131 delegates were elected to the Chairman Corps, including Madame Sun Yat-sen and Mr. Tung Pi-wu, Vice-Premier.

IDEAL SINGLETON LEAD. South to take all but one trick, discarding two hearts and a club on the diamonds and losing only one trick in clubs.

The leaders of the diamond singleton watched South win in his own hand and lead the spade 3. West won with the A and switched to the heart Q, on which the K and A were put. East of course returned his diamond 6, which West trumped with the spade 6. That made three tricks; and the heart J proved the setter.

How ideal was West's lineup for a singleton lead. He had the trump A plus two others. His singleton was easy to read in the suit bid by the dummy, so would be a terrible lead unless it was a loner. His hand in general was none too strong, weak enough so that it was virtually sure his partner had some kind of entry which could win and make possible a diamond return. As it developed, the heart Q return, trapping the K, also set up the potted fourth trick.

ISRAEL-TRANSJORDAN RAPPROCHEMENT MAY BE SEQUEL TO COUP

King Abdullah of Transjordan, having incorporated Arab Palestine into his kingdom, is likely to make his next move toward a treaty with Israel in defiance of the Arab League, "The Times" said in an editorial today.

The editorial said Abdullah's incorporation of Arab Palestine is itself a challenge to the Arab League.

"King Abdullah is so confident the new Parliament will support his general policy that he has made an important change in its constitutional powers—the Cabinet is to be responsible to Parliament and not to himself."

"The Times" said that to some extent this change was an act of faith, and if it succeeded, it will greatly discount his critics in the Arab League. It added: "The decisive question now is whether Jordan can reach a working agreement with Israel. The defence of the new territories West of the River Jordan depends upon part of Jerusalem remaining under King Abdullah's control and he has there another reason for seeking an arrangement with Israel."

In Cairo, the Egyptian Foreign Minister, Mohamed Salim El Din, denounced Transjordan's annexation of Arab Palestine as a frank violation of Arab policy.

He told newsmen the Arab League political committee will meet immediately to take preliminary action. The League secretary, Abdel Rahman Azam, has received formal notice of the merger from the Transjordanian Government and is transmitting the communication to the other Arab Governments.

Anglo-Jordanian treaty

In London, informed sources indicate that the 1948 treaty of alliance between Britain and Transjordan will automatically extend to Arab Palestine as a result of its annexation yesterday by the Jordanian Government.

Foreign Office spokesmen declined officially to make any comment on the treaty issue. The British Government has taken no steps either to encourage or discourage King Abdullah's moves to incorporate Eastern Palestine in his Kingdom. Spokesmen also say there were no consultations between Britain and Jordan prior to the annexation.

Cautious official statements reflected the view that the move is not considered in London as an annexation of territory from a foreign State but incorporation into an existing State of a "vacuum," leading to "union" of two territories.

Speculation in diplomatic quarters turned in particular to obligations under the Anglo-Jordanian treaty of 1948, which pledges Britain to aid Transjordan in the event of armed attack by a third party. Competent sources indicated that Britain will tacitly accept extension of the treaty to the whole of Jordanian territory, including newly-acquired areas.

Sanctions by Arabs?

Diplomatic quarters here do not anticipate any major complications arising from King Abdullah's move and in particular do not expect any aggressive hostile action on the part of other Arab States.

One prospect unofficially discussed here was that members of the Arab League might attempt to impose economic sanctions on Jordan. The speculation was that such a move would tend to draw Transjordan closer to Israel, thus further splitting Arab unity. Attention was drawn, in this connection, to the fact that the general principle of incorporating Arab Palestine in the Kingdom of Transjordan was suggested in a report by Count Bernadotte in September 1948.

Israeli sources described the incorporation as one-sided and claimed it was not binding on Israel, but it was understood no move was planned, at least for some time.

At the Foreign Office, strict silence was maintained on the Jordanian move and its possible implications. Suggestions by a Press representative that Britain might impose an embargo on arms supplies to Egypt and other Arab States, or ask for an understanding that they would not be used against Jordan, were denied. The spokesmen said there were no conditions attached to arms supplies under existing treaties with recipient countries.

ISRAEL CHARGE DENIED

London, April 25: A Foreign Office spokesman tonight categorically denied that Britain is building up Arab armies to be directed against Israel.

He was commenting on an Israeli statement today which said that Britain is encouraging an explosive situation in the Middle East by supplying arms to Arab States, while withholding them from Israel.

The spokesman said that arms sent to the Arab States were in fulfilment of Britain's treaty obligations which existed before the State of Israel came into being. The arms were destined solely for security purposes and internal security. "We are quite sure that the supplies of arms do not in any way constitute a menace to peace in the Middle East," he said.

The spokesman said it is not the intention of the British Government to supply any war material to Israel while that country's relations with the Arab States are as ill-defined as they are at present.

Referring to the Israeli spokesman's statement that Britain had pursued a policy of encouraging treachery at the recent Arab League meeting, he declared that Britain had in no way interfered with the affairs of the meeting.

He reiterated the statement made by Mr. Ernest Davies, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, in Parliament yesterday, that any information on the type or quantity of arms supplied to the Arab States would be a breach of confidence.—Reuter.

Far East shipping risk rates cut

London, April 25: The Institute of London Underwriters announced today that war and strike, riot and civil commotion shipping risks to, from or between ports in Japan have been halved.

The new rate is 1/6d. per £100. Certain Chinese rates have also been cut, it said. North of Shanghai up to and including Tientsin and the island of Hainan.

The new Chinese rates are £1 per 100 as against £1 10s.—Associated Press.

East Java Premier to resign

Jakarta, April 25: The East Indonesian Parliament demanded today that the Government of the State resign, and Premier Diapari said he would comply, the Macassar radio said.

Parliament voted the demand in a resolution, 49 to 1. The action is expected to clear the way for political leaders trying to dissolve the State and join East Indonesia to its sister State, the Indonesian Republic.

Premier Diapari had been opposed to such a move. However, there has been a strong drive to cut down the number of States in this new Republic to about four large ones.

Premier Diapari failed to throw strong support behind the United States of Indonesia's Central Government during the recent abortive Macassar rebellion. He had insisted that the sending of Federal troops to the State had been a move to undermine it.

Political observers say the new Government of East Indonesia will probably be pro-Republican.

The Macassar radio announced that martial law is in effect in Macassar, Celebes Island, following week-end disturbances. The capital is declared a closed city and military passes are required of any who enter or leave. Macassar was already under tight military control and closed to regular sea and air travel.—Associated Press.

RUSSIA ACCUSED OF LYING

Berlin, April 25: The U.S. and France today accused the Russians of lying in order to hide the fate of hundreds of German war prisoners still unaccounted for five years after the war.

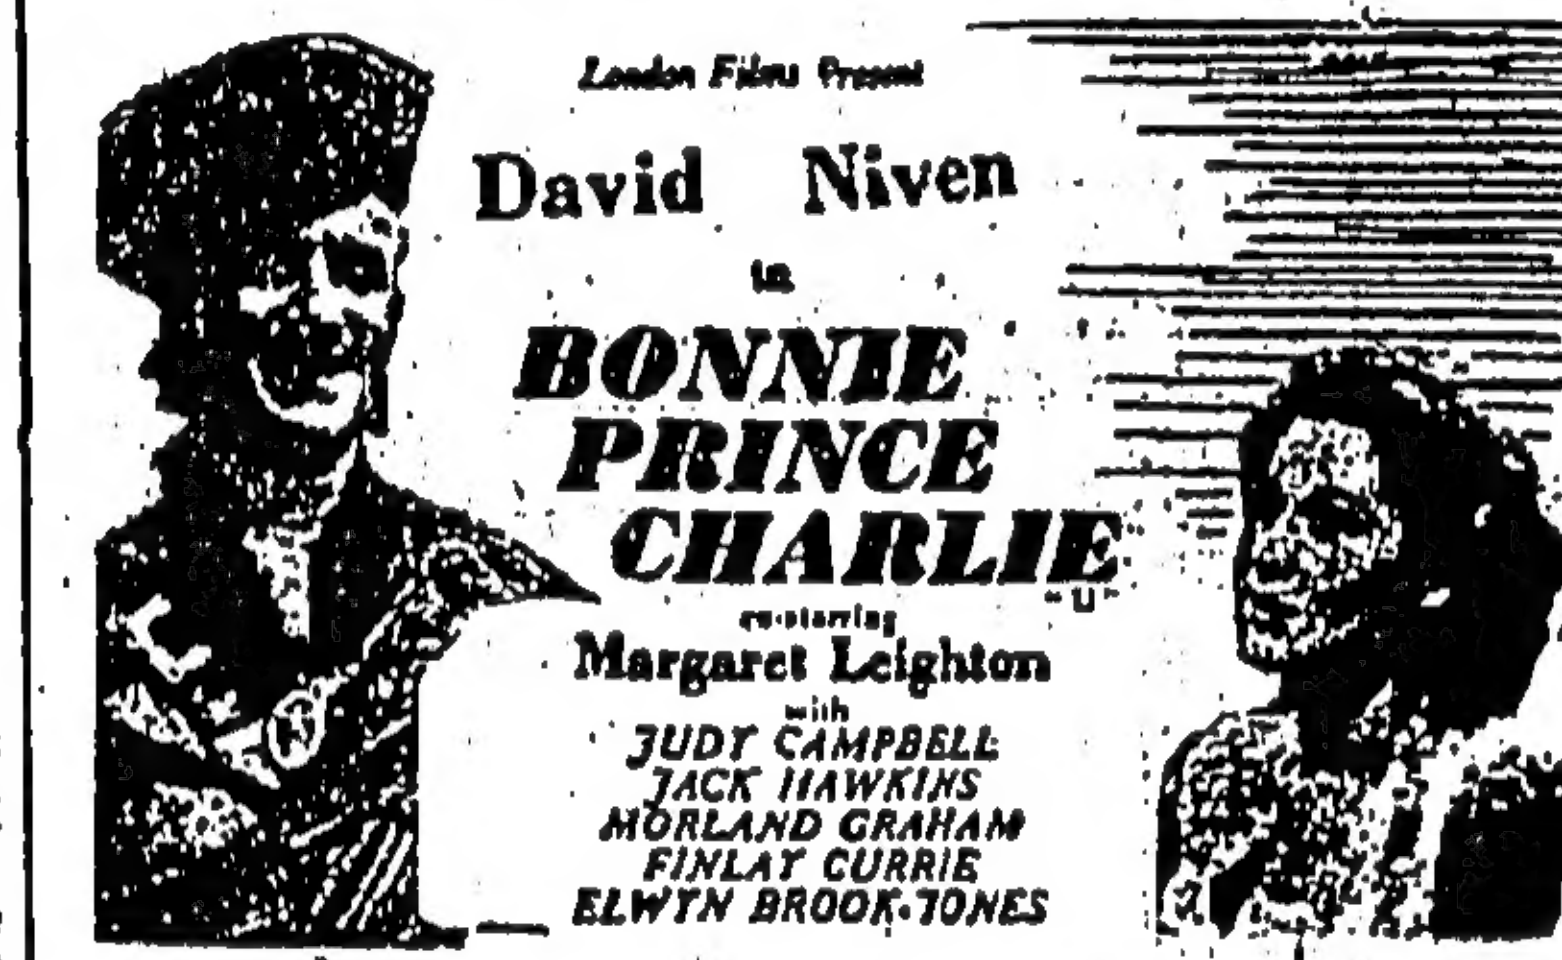

A joint statement charged the Russians with spreading false rumours to deflect public attention from the failure of the USSR to repatriate German prisoners.

These reports, spread through the Russian-controlled German Communist Press, accused the U.S. of withholding lists of more than 1,000,000 German army casualties.—Associated Press.

As many as 316 sizes of industrial and fractional endless V-belts can be replaced with only four reels of Veelink, the link V-belt. From these handy reels required belt lengths are quickly uncoupled, made endless and installed. Belt replacements for any type drive are always on hand. Rapid turnover of Veelink on reels eliminates spare belt deterioration. Complex, costly belt inventories are ended. Stock records are simplified. Standard reels hold 100 feet, save storage space.

Veelink goes on quickly and easily...lowers machine down-time. On drive with outboard bearings, it is installed without moving the motor or dismantling the machine. Savings on drives of this type have been estimated to run as high as 9/10 the cost of installing any other V-belt.

Veelink—known throughout the United States—has proven itself in service on thousands upon thousands of drives. Wherever it is used higher levels of power transmission efficiency are attained.

ENGINEERING PAGE FOR BETTER VENTILATION

There is a vast difference between the ventilating capacity of Woods Roof Extractor Unit and that of the ordinary roof cowl. The Woods Unit gives guaranteed air displacement. Its superiority can be readily appreciated when the relative effectiveness of natural and mechanical draught ventilation is compared.

It must be remembered that the ventilating capacity of the ordinary roof cowl is dependent on natural causes and is often at variance with ventilating requirements.

Air extraction through a natural roof cowl is brought about primarily by the fact that the air inside a building is usually warmer and therefore lighter in weight than the outside atmosphere.

Consequently the inside air rises and passes out through any apertures provided in the roof, to be replaced by cooler and denser air entering at a lower level. In some designs wind velocity also assists extraction.

The less difference there is between the temperature of the inside and outside air, the less air movement there will be through the natural cowl. It follows that in hot, windless weather, when ventilation is most required, the natural roof cowl is liable to be ineffective. Conversely its extraction capacity is greatest in wintry weather when minimum air changes are needed.

Woods Roof Extractor Unit, however, incorporates an efficient exhaust fan which provides effective ventilation at a guaranteed rate and gives positive control of air changes. Yet the initial cost of this unit compares very favourably with that of natural cowls and it costs little to operate.

Low running cost

Relatively little power is consumed by Woods Roof Extractor Unit. Take for example the ventilation of an industrial building 140 ft. x 150 ft. x 25 ft. average height. If six air changes an hour are to be provided, the total air movement required for summer ventilation will be 3,150,000 cu. ft. per hour, or 52,500 c.f.m. (cu. ft. per minute).

This rate of air movement can be obtained approximately with eight No. 30a Roof Extractor Units, each extracting 6520 c.f.m., and the total power consumption of the eight units will be only 3½ kilowatts, or units of electricity per hour.

Ventilation by Woods Roof Extractor Units can be regulated to suit the weather. The performance of a number of the units can be controlled by means of fan speed regulation, which enables the rate of air movement to be reduced in cool weather or increased in hot weather.

Alternatively control of air changes, and of heat loss, can be effected by switching off some or all of the units in cold weather. When the units are switched off there will be a small amount of natural ventilation, but not sufficient to cause serious heat loss.

Inrequent servicing

The units require little attention. Continuous running with little servicing is one of their features. Under normal conditions the attention required is re-lubrication once in 12 months.

The ventilation of buildings in very exposed positions by means of wall-mounted exhaust fans may involve difficulties owing to the restriction of fan output caused by adverse wind pressures.

The right answer to such conditions is the Roof Extractor Unit. The performance of the unit will actually be improved by strong winds, partly because of the negative pressure above the roof caused by wind velocity, and partly by the additional extraction effect produced by wind blowing through the extractor cowl.

Construction

Woods Roof Extractor Unit incorporates a cowl of high aerodynamic efficiency, designed for mechanical extraction with a minimum restriction of fan performance.

Alternative types of bases are supplied for flat roofs, roof slopes, or ridge mounting. The bases have flanges of ample width for bolting to roof members. To facilitate waterproofing in erection, the bases are fitted with a flashing skirt under which the flashing is tucked, as shown above on the left.

In the event of a fan requiring an overhaul (unlikely in normal circumstances) it can be withdrawn easily from the ventilator. Standard models of the two smallest units, Nos. 15 and 18, have the fan motor positioned below the ventilator diaphragm for servicing from inside the building. In the larger units the fan motor is positioned inside the ventilator cowl and a removable inspection plate is provided on the top of the cowl for servicing from the roof.

Robustly constructed from heavy gauge mild steel with welded seams, the units are finished with a heavy coat of anti-rust red oxide primer. Special protective finishes can be provided at an extra price.

The extraction fans incorporated in the units are standard Woods propeller fans, giving high air deliveries in relation to power consumption. The driving motors—designed specifically for fan duties—are manufactured completely in the Woods of Colchester factories.

Totally enclosed and liberally rated, the motors are insulated to withstand exacting conditions of heat and humidity. Standard motors are suitable for continuous operation in ambient temperatures averaging 105 deg. F. with peak temperatures up to 112 deg. F., or down to -54 deg. F.

To minimise the possibility of overheating, the motors are designed for a temperature rise of only 65 deg. F., as against the rise of 90 deg. F. permitted by the British Standard specification for totally enclosed machines.

All motors are fitted with ball bearings and are tapped for condult entry.

In all units except No. 48 the fans are "floated" on rubber by means of Woods patent Resilient Suspension, as shown above. This feature contributes to quiet operation. The extremities of the fan mounting arms are embedded in soft rubber cushions which isolate the fan from its orifice plate and absorb any fan noise or vibration.

The rubber cushions provide effective sound-damping because they are held in place by metal caps without compression and are thus fully resilient.

BIF preview:

New gadgets in hardware

Those goods at the British Industries Fair which come under the broad description of "hardware" suffer under the disability that they are prosaic articles, long established in use, excellently designed for their several purposes and not susceptible of much useful change.

They are so numerous that only a catalogue can do justice to them. They comprehend everything that is used in the home, much that enters into office work, the hand tools which the householder, the land worker in many countries and the industrial operator use, and most of these are of standard design.

There is an astonishing number of different types of spade, but fundamentally a spade remains a spade.

Galvanised and enamelled hollow ware will bulk largely. Oil heaters and cookers and lamps will again make an appeal for use in out-of-the-way places. "Meccano" for grown-ups takes the form of lengths of special slotted angles which can be bolted together to make fences, small buildings, work benches, and many other serviceable things. Pressure cookers will reappear. Kitchen cabinets, sweepers, lawnmowers, bathroom fittings, aluminium ware in great variety, woven wire objects, locks, and padlocks—so the list expands.

Ingenious devices

There will be some ingenious devices. For instance, someone has made a folding kitchen chair-cum-set-of-steps-cum-ironing-board. It is all in one piece. The housewife just turns it inside out or upside down and she can rest or work as she pleases.

All these little gadgets which make coffee grinding, vegetable preparation, mashing, and cleansing less tedious or unpleasant will be found on these stands. For more extensive needs there will be the electric potato peeler.

Vitreous enamelled hollow-ware for surgical and hospital requirements, for butchers, canteens, hotels, and bar fitting will occupy another stand.

Smokers' stands of the non-topple variety, hearth furniture of attractive modern styles, ornamental mirrors, and, of course, nails and screws and nuts and bolts, and the multifarious small wares in metal, wood, and plastics with which everyone is familiar will be on show.

Aluminium enters into many of these goods. There are lightweight ladders of this alloy, road studs, conduit fittings, and beer barrels. The latter has been a recent development, and special containers are now being made for chemicals, for which aluminium is found to be especially suitable.

Wide range

In these days when the finish often makes the difference between successful trading and failure, the wide range of paints, enamels, varnishes, and lacquers has an importance of its own.

Brassware will be much in evidence. It is one of Birmingham's staple products, so that local firms avail themselves freely of the facilities offered by the Fair for bringing their candlesticks, log boxes, the plaques which have become so popular in recent years, jugs, and reproductions of horse and other bronzes before the buyers from all over the world. A great deal of skill has gone to the making of much of this ware, which is both useful and ornamental.

A stand which will have more than ordinary interest will be one devoted to single and double barrel sporting guns, revolvers, air rifles, and humane cattle killers. Another Birmingham industry, the weapons will show the highest quality of workmanship.

U.S. TO BUILD
ATOMIC AGE SUBMARINES

Washington, April 25.

Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, Chief of Naval Operations, today asked Congressional authority to build four new-type submarines, including one powered by atomic energy. The atomic drive submarine will cost $40,000,000, Admiral Sherman told the House Armed Services Committee. The three other experimental types will be built at a combined cost of $50,000,000.

The radical new submarines would be part of the $385,000,000 building and conversion programme for which Admiral Sherman said he will ask funds in the budget for the fiscal year 1952. He said, "I would be happy to start work on every item in this bill tomorrow."

Admiral Sherman outlined these other three atomic age submarines in the Navy construction plan:

1. A 250-ton submarine to cost $3,000,000. This is about one-tenth the size of normal submarines. It is somewhat bigger than the Japanese two-man submersible such as the one that was captured at Pearl Harbour on December 7, 1941.

2. A target and experimental submarine displacing 1,000 tons to cost $10,000,000. Admiral Sherman gave no details of its design or function.

3. A 2,000-ton experimental submarine which would cost $37,000,000.

Russian strength
In addition the programme calls for the conversion of a number of the existing submarines to snorkel types—the kind that can breathe under water through the Dutch developed tube to the surface. It provides for the conversion of a cruiser to a launching platform for guided missiles. It covers the modernisation of a carrier.

All told, 112 vessels would be built—most of them small or auxiliary types—at a total cost of $129,000,000. The rest of the total outlay would go into conversions.

Admiral Sherman said the building plans are part of a top priority effort to modernise the fleet to meet the changing world conditions.

In response to questions, he said the Russians were known to have more than 270 submarines of all classes. He did not know how many of these are of latest snorkel types.—United Press.

HK-BOUND SHIP TURNED BACK

Manila, April 26.
The Philippine ship ss. Lepus, which sailed from Tacloban, Leyte, on April 18 for Hong Kong with a cargo of military surplus materials, has returned to Manila, presumably on orders from the Government.

The Lepus was reported to have been intercepted and escorted here by a Philippine Naval Patrol vessel. Reliable sources said the cargo will be inspected to determine whether any portion should not be shipped to Hong Kong.

The ship had been chartered by a Hong Kong firm. The Acting Customs Commissioner, A. V. Jacinto, has instructed Customs collectors throughout the Philippines not to allow shipments of war materials to any port outside the country.—United Press.

Rules governing war
called out of date

London, April 25.

Admiral of the Fleet Lord Cork, commander of the naval forces in the Norway expedition at the beginning of the war, contended today that the rules governing the laws of war are as dead as a dog and must be overhauled.

International law, he told the House of Lords, does not allow for the plea of acting under superior orders. A flagrant case was that of two German sailors, who were imprisoned in 1945 for their part in machine-gunning survivors of the Greek ship, Peleus, which was torpedoed in mid-Atlantic by a German submarine in 1942.

The U-Boat captain, Heinz Eck, had taken full responsibility for the incident at his trial, Lord Cork said. He had admitted ordering the machine-gunning and blowing up of the wreckage and the raft on which were two survivors, to remove all traces of the incident and conceal the presence of the submarine in the area.

He and two officers, to whom he had given orders to open fire on the raft, were sentenced to death and shot. Two other members of the crew were sentenced to life imprisonment and 15 years, respectively.

Lord Cork thought it would have been quite enough to have shot the captain, who gave the order, and not to have pursued the matter further down the scale. "I feel that I am acting in the interests of young officers and all ranks and ratings liable to receive orders in the stress and strain of battle and in an emotional atmosphere," Lord Cork said.

The Lord Chancellor, Lord Jowitt, said he absolutely and completely disagreed with Lord Cork, who had enunciated nothing less than the Fuehrer principle.

Under this reasoning, if the U-Boat commander had said he got his orders from Admiral Doenitz, and did what he had been told, he would not have been responsible. And if Admiral Doenitz had said he was commanded to order it by Adolf Hitler, the same reasoning would lead to the result that Doenitz was not guilty and Hitler was.

"That is the Fuehrer principle—the doctrine by which you lay down all your moral ideas and put yourself absolutely at the control of one man, rendering unto him not merely those things which are Caesar's, but those which every man in the last resort must judge for himself."—Reuter.

Czechoslovak Government
reorganized

Prague, April 25.
Czechoslovakia today announced a major Government reorganization which raised President Gottwald's son-in-law to the post of Defence Minister.

Observers believe that the move foreshadows an effort to purge the last pro-Western sympathisers from the army, and refashion it into a fighting organisation.

Alexej Cepsloka is the new Defence Minister, replacing General Ludvik Svoboda, who was given a Vice-Premiership to head the State's Office of Education and Sports. Stefan Rala, head of the presidential office, is new Minister of Justice, and Vice-Premier Zdenek Fierlinger head of the State Chancellery. Vojlav Kopecky keeps his post as Minister of Information, while handing over the direction of sports and education to Svoboda.—United Press.

PRAGUE AND MONGOLIA

Prague, April 25.
Czechoslovakia has established diplomatic relations with the Republic of Mongolia, Prague Radio said tonight.

The acting Foreign Minister, Viliam Siroky, announced the Czech Government's decision in a letter to the Mongolian Ambassador to the Soviet Union.—United Press.

LEOPOLD REFUSES TO GIVE PROMISE

Brussels, April 25.

Exiled King Leopold of the Belgians today refused to give a specific promise of what he would do after handing power to his 19-year-old son, Prince Baudouin, because it would endanger the dignity of the Monarchy.

Leopold, who himself suggested stepping down temporarily when the nation's political leaders found it impossible to agree on the terms of his return to the Throne, took this stand after a six-hour talk at Geneva yesterday with the Catholic Premier-designate, M. Paul Van Zeeland.

M. Van Zeeland flew to which I made—and by virtue of which I feel I can claim confidence—my astonishment to see arise discussions concerning my presence in the country. "The publicity which has surrounded the discussions and the significance which certain people give to my absence from the country exclude for me any possibility to undertake now 'as a condition to my return to leave Belgium,' be it temporarily after the delegation of my prerogatives to the Crown Prince, without risking grave harm to the dignity of the Monarchy."

Leopold's own plan is to make a prolonged tour of the Belgian Congo, but here again there is division between the parties as to whether this tour should be undertaken incognito or as a Sovereign.

When he returned to Brussels today M. Van Zeeland released a letter from the King refusing to give any undertaking about his movements.

The letter said, "I do not consent from you after the gesture delegates to the three-Party talks for a compromise solution to the Royal problem, to go ahead with the negotiations.

The Liberal negotiators were urged to wind up the talks under the condition that an exercise of the Royal prerogatives by Crown Prince Baudouin will be ensured, thus allowing achievement of a national understanding.

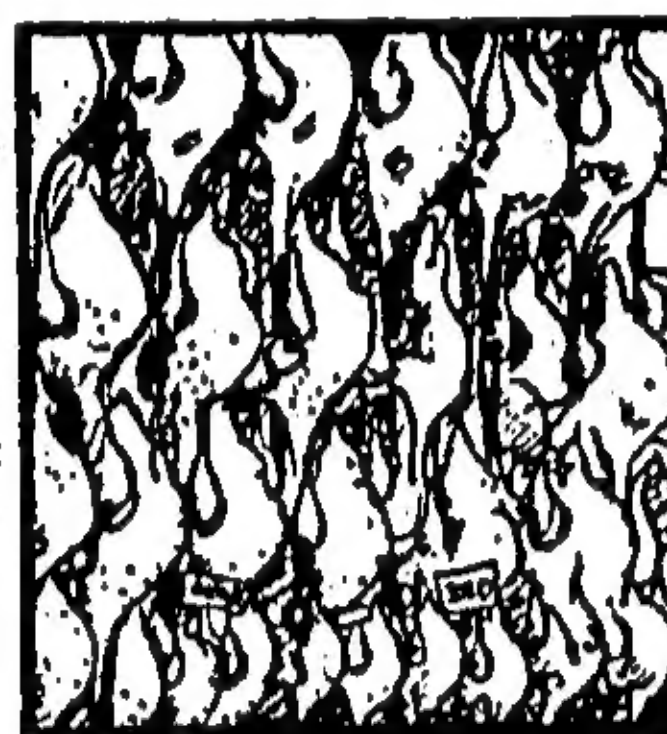

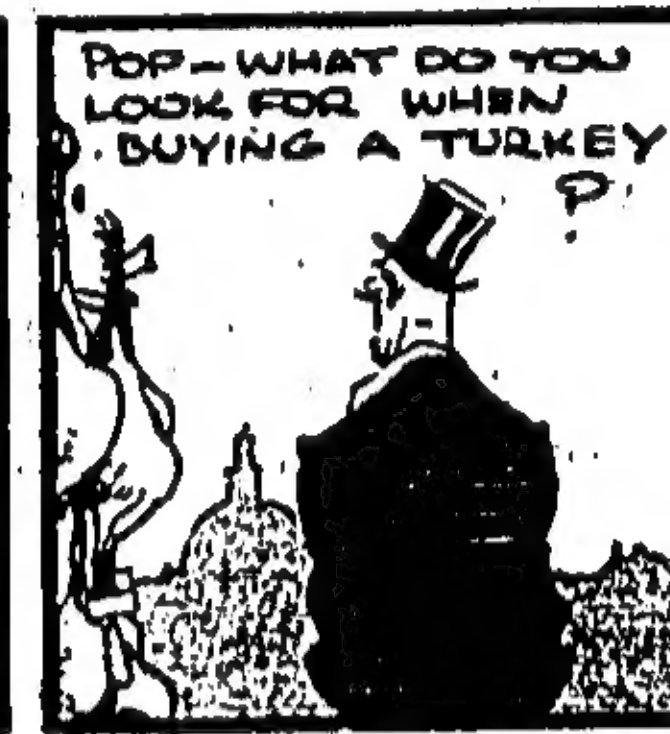

M. Auguste Van Gharbeke, outgoing Liberal Minister of Health, said, "The Flemish Liberals will never agree to a banishment of the King."

"We do not agree in this with the Socialists," he added.

(Usually well-informed circles here stated tonight that prospects of a new Catholic-Liberal Coalition Government under Premier Van Zeeland are bright tonight. M. Max Buset, Chairman of the Belgian Socialist Party, tonight accused King Leopold of sabotaging deliberately the three-Party negotiations for a compromise solution of the constitutional crisis.

"The King has adopted a take it or leave it attitude. In fact, this morning M. Van Zeeland requested the parties to answer yes or no to the King's proposals," M. Buset declared.

The Premier-designate, M. Paul Van Zeeland, will be received by the Regent, Prince Charles, tomorrow afternoon and will report to him on the political situation.—Reuter.

SCAP reveals a wartime secret

London, April 25.

A secret organisation of Pacific islanders, planters and missionaries, often working secretly behind enemy lines, killed 5,414 Japanese during World War II, General Douglas MacArthur disclosed today.

In a statement broadcast on the British Broadcasting Corporation "Now it can be told" programme in honour of Anzac Day, the Supreme Allied Commander in the Pacific told the story of the "Coast Watchers," inter-Allied intelligence agency in the South Pacific.

General MacArthur said the Coast Watchers nucleus contained islanders, planters, prospectors, missionaries and Government administrators, men who had lived long on the islands, intimately acquainted with the terrain and who, most important of all, knew which natives were friendly.

He continued: "Some of these men had remained in Japanese-held territory, and had been helped by friendly natives. They gained intelligence and relayed it by radio, guiding attacks on Japanese planes, and shipping, secretly evacuated civilians from behind enemy lines, rescued and helped evacuate Allied airmen and as the Japanese were being driven out, they organised guerrilla warfare. Some of the most amazing jungle tracks of the war are credited to members of this section engaged in watching not only the

SOVIETS CHASE SWEDISH SHIP

Stockholm, April 26.

A heavily armed Russian minelayer chased a Swedish trawler all the way from a point 24 miles off the Polish coast to the edge of Swedish territorial waters in the Baltic Sea, the newspaper "Morgensbladet" reported today. The Swedish trawler, the "Laxen," of Gullstam, was chased by a Soviet minelayer, the "Krasnaya Zvezda," which was chased by a Soviet patrol boat. The chase ended in the Baltic Sea, where the "Laxen" was released.

Princess' engagement with Royal Highness

London, April 26.

When Princess Elizabeth, Duchess of Edinburgh, returns from Malta where she is having a holiday with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, who is with the Mediterranean Fleet, her official engagement book will be put on one side.

She has an engagement with His (or Her) Royal Highness—a new baby, due to arrive in August.

The Princess, who is in excellent health, has carried out a number of public engagements during her stay in Malta. But a statement issued from Buckingham Palace now says these will cease.

At Clarence House the arrangements for the confinement of Princess Elizabeth are likely to be similar to those made at Buckingham Palace for the birth of her son.

There a second-floor room, earlier laid out as the Palace first-aid room at the instance of Queen Mary, was converted into part of the Princess's suite.

Special sterilising and lighting equipment were installed. Miss Helen Rowe, midwife then attached to King's College Hospital and later a second nurse, Sister Maureen, attended the Princess and her baby, and they may be called in again.

Third in succession

Princess Elizabeth, Heiress-Presumptive to the Throne, was 24 last week. She flew to Malta on March 28; it is her second visit to the island.

She is staying with Vice-Admiral Earl Mountbatten and Countess Mountbatten at their villa.

Whether Princess Elizabeth's second child is a boy or a girl the baby will be third in line of succession to the throne, following immediately after the Princess and Prince Charles, and taking precedence over Princess Margaret.

The baby will be born his or her Royal Highness, with the title of Prince or Princess. On November 9, 1948, the King granted Letters Patent under the Great Seal, amending the rules proclaimed by King George V on July 17, 1917, when the family name of Windsor was adopted.

These rules limited the title of Prince or Princess to the children of the Sovereign and to the children of the Sovereign's daughters.

Charles at Windsor

By the Letters Patent, the King defined and fixed the style by which the children of Princess Elizabeth's marriage should be designated.

"It is declared that the children of the aforesaid marriage shall

Petrol ration for visitors to Britain

The British Minister of Fuel and Power, Mr. Noel Baker, has announced allowances of petrol for visitors to Britain are to be more than doubled this year. He states that travellers from Canada and United States who bring their own cars with them will receive an allocation sufficient for three thousand miles motoring during their first month's stay. Those who may buy a new car while in Britain will also be entitled to a similar amount.

Previous allowance for overseas visitors was enough for 1,600 miles motoring in a period of three months or more. Now, allocation will enable 6,000 miles touring to be done in Britain by anyone staying this length of time.

During the second month of a visit enough petrol can be drawn for 2,000 miles and during the third month allocation would cover 1,000 miles. There is thus a total of 6,000 miles for three months stay available to anyone from North America while in Britain.

Visitors from other parts of the world may draw enough petrol to allow for 4,000 miles motoring in three months. This is divided up into allocation sufficient for 2,000 miles during the first month and for 1,000 miles each two succeeding months.

Coupons for six months
The Minister announced that in addition to this increased petrol for those who bring their own cars or buy a new car in Britain, Overseas visitors who borrow one will also get bigger allowances. Present allocation which is enough for 200 miles motoring will be doubled. Those who buy a second hand car while in Britain will also now be given petrol for 500 miles touring by road.

These increased allocations can be had immediately. Those who are already in Britain and may have drawn their petrol at previous rates are entitled to those additional allocations at once.

Anglo-Dutch war games in the Channel

London, April 25.

The Admiralty said today that a Dutch naval squadron returning from the West Indies will take part with British sea and air forces in a combined exercise in the English Channel early next month.

The squadron, consisting of the aircraft carrier Karel Doorman, the cruiser Heemskerk and the frigate Ughen Nauritz van Nassau, will be under the command of Rear-Admiral J. L. Dilling.

The Netherlands Commander-in-Chief, Vice-Admiral Jonkhoe E. J. van Holthe, will fly to the Azores on April 27 to join the Karel Doorman for the exercise.

GRAND FINALE TO SEASON'S
CAMPAIGN FOR SUPREMACY

(By "GRANDSTAND")

Unfavourable weather having wrought havoc with the Senior League Play-off fixtures, there exists an uncertainty as to whether the programme will be completed before the season closes down officially this Saturday.

Providing the weather man will play ball, an effort will be made this afternoon to play off the two remaining decisive games, when Braves and Jaguars tangle on the Recreio Football Ground, and the Saints and Americans clash at CBA.

Barring upsets, this twin-bill should provide a grand finale to season's gruelling campaign for the Blue and Gold bunting, symbolic of diamond supremacy.

Should the Senior games conclude this evening, deciding the new champions, it is intended to match an All-Star side against the Champion Blackhawks, in a Junior exhibition game.

The Midget League which is still a three way fight between the Saints, Aces and Blackhawks, will be completed with the next few weeks, when a special gala presentation ceremony will be held at King's Park for the title.

Inclement weather recently has prevented many fans from obtaining tickets on the ball-field, and a limited number will be reserved for those who intend to participate in the traditional Presentation Ball.

These tickets are obtainable from Doc Mithen, Shell House, 1st floor, or at the Peninsula Hotel on the night of the dance.

Record number of games

A record number of games were arranged this year, amounting to a staggering total of 342. For readers' information the figures were arrived at as follows:

Men's Senior League	105
Senior Play-off	15
Men's Junior League	99
Junior Play-off	18
Ladies Senior League	30
Ladies Junior League	30
Midget League	45
Inter-Long League	28
Men's International	5
Ladies International	3
Total	342

With the exception of a few games which were rained out during the past few weeks, all of them were played off. The Ladies Junior-Battling title was decided last week, with White Fung third-seeker Cecile Arnold, topping the list with an average of .447, closely followed by Carmen Sousa of the Squaws with .442.

Men's batting title

The Men's Batting title should be won by Nudapper. Ricardo Segura who is now at the top with a comfortable .426, and the only other player who can possibly topple Segura is Jaguar

Dodgers score fifth straight triumph

New York, April 25.

Lefty Joe Hatten, who must have been wondering when he would ever get into a ball game, made up for lost time today by pitching a two-hit 3-0 victory over Boston Braves as Brooklyn Dodgers scored their fifth straight triumph.

In the second inning, Bob Elliott hit a clean single off Hatten, then the lean lefty routed the next 23 batters in a row before he walked Connie Ryan with two out in the last of the ninth.

Sam Jethroe next singled, but Willard Marshall made the final out on interference when he crashed into Hatten on the base path after hitting an easy grounder.

It was a swift titillating deal between Hatten and Vern Bickford which required only an hour and 36 minutes to complete. Dodgers scored all their runs in the third.

Roy Campanella walked, Hatten bunted and both runners were safe when catcher Del Crandall elected to try and get Campanella at second.

Peeewe Reese walked and George "Shotgun" Shuba drove in one run with a fly ball.

Duke Snider singled home Hatten and Jackie Robinson beat out a squeeze bunt to score Reese.

The inning might have been even more fruitful but for "rock-head" base running by Snider.

Snider, after moving to second on Robinson's bunt, started back to first believing it to be a foul. He was tagged out easily.

After a winless first week, the Giants took advantage of three errors in the first two innings to defeat the Phillies, 8-4 at New York in frigid weather.

Durocher's dandies

A brave little band of 4,940 fans had their first chance to whip it up for Leo Durocher's dandies, who scored three unearned runs off Juan Mayer and added another in the second with errors by Gran Hamner and Willie Jones.

Home run blast by Alvin Dark and Jack Harshman in the fifth and fourth innings

Palestine wins Two Thousand Guineas

Newmarket, April 26.

The Aga Khan's Palestine nosed out American-bred Prince Simon in a photo finish in the Two Thousand Guinea's classic on Wednesday.

Prince Simon started a 3-1 favourite. Masked Light was third.

Palestine took the lead two furlongs from home in the straight mile race, and just held on to beat the bold challenge of the handsome American contender who was making only his second appearance on a race course.

Palestine, who had been beaten only once by Masked Light in his last race as a two-year-old last autumn—won first money of 1,800 guineas.—Associated Press.

Final collover

London, April 25.

Only seven of the 20 runners were quoted at the final collover at the Victoria Club tonight.

Most of the bookmakers were at Newmarket and not a great deal of business was done.

Mr. E. Wanless' Masked Light was favourite, although he eased from 2 to 1 to 5 to 2. This was the result of support for Mr. William Woodward's American-bred colt, Prince Simon, from 7 to 2 to 3 to 1.

Gordon Richards' mount, The Golden Road, owned by Sir Percy Loraine, was easy to back and went out to tens.

The Aga Khan's Palestine had supporters at 5 to 1, which was available yesterday. Welsh View, from the Nimbus stable, was steady at 100 to 1.

The others quoted were the unbeaten Rising Flame and the French horse Emperor, who were offered at the twentys.

The prices were: 5 to 2 Masked Light, 3 to 1 Prince Simon, 5 to 1 Palestine, 10 to 1 The Golden Road, 100 to 1 Welsh View, 20 to 1 Emperor, 20 to 1 Rising Flame, 33 to 1 any others.—Reuter.

COLONY TENNIS LEAGUE

The following changes have been made in the Colony Tennis League:

USRC—No team entered in Mixed "A" Division. Team entered in Mixed "B" Division.

SCAA has just withdrawn its Ladies "B" entry. Therefore, the KCC Ladies "B" team will have a bye on May 2.

Friday, April 26: Mixed "B" Division. An additional match played between USRC and SCOA at the USRC grounds.

Home soccer:

Liverpool favoured to beat Arsenal in F.A. Cup final

(By "ALBION")

As far as Club soccer in England is concerned, next Saturday will be the climax of previous do or die encounters in the FA Cup.

Yes, it's Cup Final day again at Wembley; this time it is a North versus South battle, with Liverpool—representing the Northerners and Arsenal the Southerners.

The stage seems all set for a mighty final. As usual, it will be a full house at Wembley, with a sprinkling of football fans from all over the country making their annual trek to the Stadium.

It will be a great day in the soccer world and the chances look even.

I favour Liverpool by reason of their quick raiding forward line.

Still, one can never tell, what will contend with and the fact that the Gunners are at home once again.

In the league programme, I see Pompey have a stand off with Arsenal.

It looks as though there might be a temporary change, (I say temporary as it now looks odds on Portsmouth taking the championship for the second time running), at the head of Division I as a result of Wolves and Blackpool having against Bolton away game respectively.

Yes, both teams should record wins from these games.

Slipped badly

Sunderland, who slipped badly at Huddersfield last week, have left it a little too late in their bid for honours, although they should have easily beaten Rotherham at Roker Park this week.

At the other end of the table, one looks for the ever present Birmingham and Manchester City and concludes that it now seems a pretty hopeless task for the both of them.

Birmingham are at home to Aston Villa, on Villa's recent form, Birmingham cannot expect to profit much from the game. It looks a foregone conclusion I fear.

The same must be said for Manchester City—they when they play as guests of West Bromwich.

The latter won away at Fulham on Saturday and will no doubt be in good spirits as a result.

It looks as though both City and Birmingham will return to Division II from whence they came in 1947 and 1948 respectively.

Division II the battle for promotion still goes on. Of course, Spurs are assured of return, but who will accompany them still remains to be settled.

Terry Allen becomes new World and European Flyweight Champion

London, April 25.

Underdog Terry Allen of Britain piled up a big lead in the first nine rounds and then held off a furious counter-attack to win the World and European Flyweight boxing championship tonight with a 15-round decision over Honore Pratesi of France.

The former London street peddler was bleeding badly from a cut eye at the end of the fight and it took all of his strength to ward off Pratesi's desperate bid for a late knockout.

But he was successful before the capacity 10,000 spectators at Harringay Arena and thus captured the titles vacated when Jimmy Monaghan of Ireland retired last month.

Pratesi had beaten Allen in a fight last year but he was too slow in starting tonight. For one thing, he was bothered by the referee's repeated warnings against holding.

While an interpreter came into the bout, Pratesi was shouting to the referee to explain to Pratesi his rule violations.

A 2-1 underdog

Allen went into the ring a 2-1 underdog. However, he quickly learned that the Frenchman was vulnerable inside and so he landed the early rounds to forcing a close fight—never giving Pratesi a chance for his long punch.

Pratesi cut loose with a rally in the last four rounds.

In the 15th he cut Allen's left eye and he slowed the speedy Briton down for the remainder of the fight.

But Allen was just swift enough to avoid that ever-threatening knockout punch.

Thomas also wins

London, April 25.

Eddie Thomas, the British welterweight champion, beat Bruno Marston of France, by points over 10 rounds, last night, preceding the World Flyweight title contest between Terry Allen of London and Honore Pratesi of France at the Harringay Arena, London, last night.—Reuter.
